Hello! I'm Sakib Sayyad, a first-year B.Tech Computer Science Engineering student with a passion for coding and technology. I love exploring new programming languages and frameworks, and I'm particularly interested in software development and artificial intelligence. In addition to coding, I enjoy collaborating on projects, participating in hackathons, and learning about the latest industry trends.
I'm eager to deepen my knowledge and skills while contributing to innovative solutions that can make a difference.
